CREDITS

The research, assistance and support of this document have been a collaborative effort by Arthur L. Kuhn of Ashburn, VA and Virginia Salmon Lambdin of St. Marys, Ontario. The nature of their work has been vital in the compilation of this report. Without their kind assistance, the history provided here would be but a jumble of loose records and many important lines and individuals would have been lost. To them I owe a great debt of gratitude.

RESEARCHERS

Descendant of Aaron Hartshorn "the younger"

- Thomas "Tom" Michael Hartson (1952-2013), Michigan, USA

Tom Hartson had a passion for researching his family genealogy. The original research performed by Tom over the years was probably the most comprehensive study ever done on the link between Aaron Hartshorn (1752-1800) of Danville, Vermont and the Hartshorn family of (perhaps) Aaron Hartshorn, "the younger" (1807-1887).

Descendant of Huldah Hartshorn Salmon

- Virginia Salmon Lambdin, St. Marys, Ontario, Canada

Descendant of James Henry Hartshorn

- Arthur "Art" L. Kuhn, Ashburn, Virginia, USA

For many years, I have attempted to discover the origin of the very first individual who chose to shorten the HARTSHORN name to HARTSON. It is evident that the HARTSON name was not an original name, but a truncation of the family name of Hartshorn. While no one person can be said to have been the pioneer, the change probably came due to the early pronunciation of the name. "Hart'sn" seemed to be easier to pronounce than "Harts-horn." The transition in spelling appeared to have begun during and after the American Revolution. This change in spelling resulted in the following family members, all of whom originated the lineage of Thomas¹ Hartshorn.

THE HARTSHORN LINEAGE

- This Hartshorn family began with the emigrant ancestor, Thomas Hartshorn¹ (1614-1683) who arrived in America about 1638. His point of origin is thought to have been in the English Midlands, possibly in the Nottingham/Derby area where ancient ancestor, Aluricus (Aluric), a landowner in the village of Hartshorne in Derbyshire was recorded in the Domesday Book, in AD 1086, during the Great Survey.
- The line descends through Thomas' youngest son Timothy² (1661/2-1732), from his second wife, Sarah Ayres.
- Timothy's second son, Thomas³ (1691-1765) continues the line through Thomas, Jr.⁴ (1718/19-1809).
- Thomas' fifth child, Aaron⁵ (1752-1800), was the last of the line from Reading, Mass.
- Aaron⁵ died relatively young, at age 48, in Danville, Vermont.
- The subject of this study is Aaron's son, Aaron, Jr.⁶ (1781-1847). He was married to Hannah Peasley. For the purposes of clarification, he is referred to as "Aaron the elder." This line, beginning with Thomas¹, removed from Reading, Massachusetts, to Hillsborough, New Hampshire. From there, the line removed to Caledonia County, Vermont.
- Aaron⁶ was the only child of Aaron⁵ to move to London, Middlesex County, Ontario.

Descendants of Aaron HARTSHORN⁶ (1781-1847)

1. Aaron HARTSHORN "the elder" & Hannah PEASLEY

Aaron HARTSHORN¹ "the elder" was born about 1781 in Danville, Caledonia County, Vermont (or possibly in New York, according to Catherine Hartshorn Foster's death certificate), the son of Aaron Hartshorn I and Zeruah Blunt. He died on 6 Feb 1847 at the age of 66 in London Twp., London District, Canada West (Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada).⁴

Aaron HARTSHORN "the elder" and Hannah PEASLEY were married on 12 Jan 1806 in Danville, Caledonia County, Vermont.⁵⁻⁶ This is confirmed by the death certificates of both Catherine Foster and her sister Huldah Salmon. Huldah's death certificate gives further info that Hannah's birthplace was England, but this is in doubt, based on the birth place of her father, Jedediah.

Hannah PEASLEY, daughter of Jedediah PEASLEY and Judith HUNT, was born about 1787 in Danville, Caledonia County, Vermont. She died about 1843 at the age of 56 in London Twp., London District, Canada West (Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada). They are both buried somewhere in the vicinity.

In 1801, Aaron Hartshorn took the Freeman's Oath when he was 21 and is listed in the Danville, Vermont town records through 1803. His name no longer appears in the Danville town records after 1803 with the exception of the "Publishments" of his and Hannah Peasley's intentions to marry, dated January 12, 1806. He was in Stanstead, Quebec in 1807.

² The "Vermont North Star" ran an ad for several months in 1807, advertising land for sale in Danville, VT. The property was being sold by Aaron Hartshorn (currently of Stanstead, Quebec). This appears to be the property he inherited from his father's estate - 8½ acres near the Danville Court House and several house lots near the court house as well. Daniel Smith and Samuel Morrell were authorized to bargain on behalf of Aaron Hartshorn. Daniel Smith was Aaron's brother-in-law. He married his sister Susanna. It appears Aaron and Hannah Peasley Hartshorn were in Stanstead as early as 1807. Hannah's father, Jedediah Peasley was also in Stanstead at this time. Stanstead is just over the Vermont line, north of Derby, VT.

We also now know that he carried on the family tradition of true patriots loyal to the U.S., departing the Canadian side sometime prior to the War of 1812, joining Capt. Rufus Stewart's Company of Volunteers from the Derby, Vermont area. They fought with the 31st U.S. Army Infantry Regiment on the Vermont and New York frontier, going all the way west to Niagara, NY and Fort Erie during the course of the war. [Research of Art Kuhn⁵]

We pick up Aaron Hartshorn (and probably Aaron "the younger" and one or two siblings) along with Jedediah Peasley, Benjamin Sanborn, and others from Stanstead, recorded on the store blotter of John S. Ball in Clarence, NY, circa 1817-1818. We know that Jedediah Peasley received a land patent in Batavia, NY, from the Holland Land Company, and was living there during the 1810 Census. He probably came there as early as 1808-1809. We know he left Stanstead in 1808. So whether Aaron, Hannah and family left for New York with Jedediah Peasley, or whether Aaron came out and settled in the area after his service in the War of 1812, we don't know. To date, no records have been found to indicate he was there earlier. He must have seen the area during his war service, and it is likely he came out after. If he was already there when the war broke out, it seems he would have joined another unit, instead of fighting with Capt. Stewart's Company that was comprised mostly of men from the Derby, VT area, just across the border from Stanstead, Quebec. There is also a gap in the ages of the children (Harriet b.1812 and Charles b. 1817) that may indicate a separation of Hannah and Aaron for a time, or they waited until they were settled again in a new locale, or children born during this time didn't survive, who knows? Much conjecture, but the pieces of the migration puzzle are much clearer than they were even a couple months ago. [Art Kuhn, Feb. 2014]

According to the "The Early Settlers of New York" by Janet Wethy Foley, an early New York merchant named John S. Ball, ran a store along the Buffalo Road, on the stage route to Buffalo (Erie County). His store, located about four miles east of Clarence, had the largest selection of goods outside of Buffalo. Ball kept a list of customers who frequented his store on the store blotter. Some of the names are listed below:

"...John Murray - Charges made by Orris Carr....Noah Pease..."

"...Issac Brown...Benjamin Sannborn - Charge - Peasley. Horse ride from your house, home. .25.....Pearley Pease...Hannah Carr. Paid Mr. Hartshorn. Charges for Asa and Sarah. Paid Amos Chapman...Ephras Arnold. Charge for Jedediah Peasley..."

"...1817. David Brown, Pembroke, NY"

"...1817. Eben Brown...1817. Shubal Sanborn, Peter Kimball. A. Hartshorn..." "...1817. Aaron Hartshorn Paid to

Descendants of Aaron HARTSHORN⁶ (1781-1847)

Mrs. Sanborn..."

"...1818. Jedediah Peasley...1817...Abel Foster...Dean Rogers..."

These are all surnames that end up in the same locale as Aaron Hartshorn, near London, Ontario, Canada. They probably emigrated as a group from New York to Canada, circa 1819-1822. Aaron Hartshorn appears to have first arrived in the London area in 1819, when the area was still a wilderness. The first permanent settler in the town of London didn't come to the area until 1826.³

Aaron and Hannah moved from Vermont to what was to become London, Ontario, Canada in 1823, when it was still a wilderness. Aaron Hartshorn owned 100 acres in the middle of the current town of London, and farmed in that township until his death in 1847.

An article in the London Free Press, London, Ontario, July 18th, 1942, contained the following two paragraphs:

"Among the early American settlers in London Township was Aaron Hartshorn who took up property at the corner of Concession 10 and the graded side road. It was in the early (1820s), when the Hartshorns drove over from Michigan Territory and pitched their tent on the land. In the Canadian forest, the Hartshorns carried on their woodworking trade, fashioning wooden buckets, wooden tubs, wooden troughs, and other articles. Irish settlers in the district were delighted to secure these products in their own neighborhood." [Research of Tom Hartson]

Extensive checks with Canadian resources indicate that only a very few people by the name of Hartshorn/Hartson are listed as residing in London Twp. circa 1820 to 1850. Of the leads developed, the most likely descendants of Hartshorns from Vermont appears to be an Aaron Hartshorn (1781-1847), listed in London Twp. land records of 1819-20, for the S 1/2 of Lot 8, Con 10. This property appears to go to his son Aaron (b. about 1807 in the USA) about 1847. At least the Middlesex Co., Ontario, Canada branch of the OGS lists a 1847 land grant to Aaron Hartshorn (b. 1807). Coincidentally, James Henry Hartshorn's father is reported to have died in 1847, providing more evidence that Catherine Hartshorn Foster, James Henry Hartshorn and Aaron Hartshorn (b. 1807) are siblings. It stands to reason that Aaron "the elder" would pass his land to his eldest son and namesake, Aaron "the younger." The land is subsequently sold to the Shoebottoms (neighbors) after the 1860's, according to 1870's land plats. [Research of Art Kuhn⁵]

Aaron "the elder" served in the military. The "Men of Upper Canada, Militia Nominal Rolls, 1828-1829" listed Privates Aaron Hartshorn and John Hartshorn (40-60 yrs.), and John Peasley (40-60 yrs.) as members of the 2nd Battalion of the 4th Regiment of Middlesex Co. Militia, under command of Col. James Hamilton November 24, 1831 - on its first establishment, June 4, 1829. All men between 16 and 60 years of age were required to join the militia. An Aaron HARTSON is listed as being in the same battalion and regiment, but mustered between the 3rd and 6th of December, 1828, in Capt. Ewart's Company from LONDON. This appears to be the same Aaron Hartson who is listed in the City of London in the 1842 Census, and who was chosen "Roadmaster" for the east side of London Twp., in 1820.

Aaron HARTSHORN and Hannah PEASLEY had nine* children:

Maria born circa 1809 may be buried in Stanstead, Quebec given her father's residence at the time.

Descendants of Aaron HARTSHORN⁶ (1781-1847)

1.1. Aaron HARTSHORN "the younger" was born on 24 Jul 1807 in New York.⁷ He died on 18 Mar 1887 at the age of 79 in London, Middlesex County, Ontario⁷ and was buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, London, Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada.⁸

Aaron HARTSHORN "the younger" and Laura SANBORN were married on 16 Dec 1829 (date of marriage ban) in Saint Paul's Anglican Church, London, London District, Upper Canada (Middlesex, Ontario)⁹ by the Reverend Edward Jukes Boswell, a pioneer Anglican missionary in the area. The witnesses were Adolphus Cole and Richard Talbot. The bride was given away by Daniel Wood. [By law, marriage banns at that time had to be posted at three different places: a mill door, a distillery house door, and a large tree at the crossroads].

Laura SANBORN, daughter of Benjamin SANBORN and Mary PEASLEY, was born on 22 Aug 1811 in probably Danville, Caledonia County, Vermont.⁷ She died on 28 Jun 1884 at the age of 72 in London East, Middlesex County, Ontario⁷ (tombstone). She was buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, London, Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada.¹¹

The couple resided in London Twp., London District, Upper Canada (Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada)¹⁰ living on lot 8, concession 10, later moving to the western side of the township. Laura, the wife of a pioneer farmer was, undoubtedly, kept constantly busy with household chores. In that early day, without modern conveniences, the only way things got done was by doing. One record calls her a "matron," but that term merely means "married woman." It is almost certain that she received little or no schooling. That knowledge comes from the only concrete clue to the woman, Laura Hartshorn: her mark or "X" on some land documents of 1871, 1880, and 1883. The documents "first [had] been read over and explained to the said Laura Hartson who said she understood the same." Another document was more explicit in saying that "the said Laura Hartson...[was]...unable to write." Being, unable to read or write in those days was commonplace. More importantly, however, there is a clear indication of her character as expressed by her family in this loving epitaph, "She made home pleasant." Aaron Hartshorn was a farmer in a time when farming was not automated. The hard work of clearing, planting, harvesting, and marketing products was an around-the-clock concern. The photo of him that survives shows a man with an ample white beard growing mostly below the chin, with a face almost stern, but capable of laughter. Large, rough hands betray his life's work. About the man's inner self one can only surmise. But evidence of a religious nature is found in this comment about him given by his granddaughter, Lillie Edyth Little, in later years, to her aunt, Miss Margaret Wade:

"Mrs. Little herself has a vivid recollection of many occasions on which her grandfather Aaron Hartson spent part of a day in her father's home (Hamilton Hartson), at that time on Queens Avenue, London, a short distance east of Adelaide Street. She remembers her grandfather as an old gentleman wearing always a long, black coat and being a great reader of the Bible. " At that time, he lived at the home of one of his daughters, Mary, Mrs. Theophilus Standfield, which was on Dundas Street, east, and therefore not a very long walk from her father's house.

On 16 March 1832, Aaron Hartshorn was a witness to a marriage performed by the minister, Hamilton Biggar, of Vienna, in London Township between John Sanborn and Eleanor Lamb, both, of London Township. The other witness was Barnard McElroy (McIlroy). His wife Laura and John were both siblings of Simon who married Mahala Hartshorn; Louisa Sanborn who married Daniel Wood was another sibling, and their grandson Charles Wood married Velleria Hartshorn daughter of Dean (Dennis) Hartshorn.

On 21 March 1842, Aaron signed a Bargain & Sale for 50 acres of land from Patrick McDonough. This land was on the S, 1/2 of lot 6 concession 10. An Eliza McDonough, daughter of Peter McDonough, married a George Sanborn.

He appeared in the census in Apr 1842 in London Twp., London District, Canada West (Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada). Aaron's family was recorded as being made up of 2 natives of the U.S. and 5 natives of British Canada. They fell into these age groups:

- 1-married male born 1782-1812 [Aaron, b. 1807]
- 1-married female born 1797-1828 [Laura, b. 1811]
- 2-single males born 1837-1842 [possibly James, b. 1840]
- 3-single females born 1828-1837 [possibly Julia, b. 1834 and Laura b. 1836]

County's Oldest Man Dies at age of 96 - James H. Sanborn Passes on day after 96th Birthday Anniversary. James H. Sanborn, probably Alcona County's oldest resident, died Sunday —the day following his 96th, birthday anniversary. Mr. Sanborn passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Goddard at Mikado. In the Herald issue of December 5 appeared a story featuring the life of Alcona County's oldest man. The story was written several weeks previous to its publication, and at the time of the interview, Mr. Sanborn, with the exception of blindness, was in good physical condition, and was particularly alert mentally, recalling the events of his long life with clarity and accuracy as to periods and dates. At that time the family was living on the Sanborn homestead near Barton City, which they use as a stock ranch during the summer. Recently they moved to their farm home near Mikado, and shortly afterward Mr. Sanborn began to fail, his death coming peacefully Sunday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Derby, Wednesday afternoon in Lincoln Baptist Church. Burial was in Lakeside Cemetery with six grandsons of the deceased acting as pallbearers. War with Mexico had not yet been declared, when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Sanborn, on their farm near London, Ontario, on December 13, 1845. Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn were busy supporting a family of 13 children. James Sanborn was the third child born in to the family.

Money was scarce and work none too plentiful, so the boy, who had been named James, as soon as he was old enough, was apprenticed to a shoemaker. When he was 18 years old he decided to leave Canada and strike out for the United States, as so many other young Canadians, looking for work were doing. Not a Lumberjack, young Jim Sanborn was one of the few who came to this section in the lumber days, who did not come to work in timber. He did not come directly to Northern Michigan however. He boarded a train at London, Canada, and rode to Sarnia, Ontario, Canada. His destination was Forester, in Sanilac County, Michigan. So he crossed the river to Port Huron and boarded a wood burning steamer, because there was no railroad north of Port Huron, and landed at his destination. For seven years he worked as a shoemaker at the railroad, in Forester, Michigan, and then boarded another steamer, this time for Au Sable, then a thriving lumber town, where he was again practicing his trade as a shoemaker, employed by George Orth. Making calk boots, one of the principle products of the show shops in those days were boots for the lumberjacks. Young James made dozens of pairs of calk boots during his ten years in Au Sable. He again moved to Alpena for a three month stay, and then went to Caro, and entered into a partnership with his cousin, Calvin Foster.

James Sanborn marries at age 28, while in Caro. Shortly after their marriage, the young couple moved to Au Sable, Michigan, where James again entered the employment of George Orth, the master shoemaker. Here the Sanborns lost two infant sons to a diphtheria epidemic, which swept the town. In 1887, the Sanborn family moved to Northern Michigan to Mud Lake, now called Barton City, then the center of lumbering operations of Alger, Smith & Company, the Louds family, and other lumbermen. He was Post Master at Mud Lake, Michigan where he opened his own shop to supply the lumberjacks with custom work boots designed for the timber industry. He also designed and made custom dress shoes for Sundays and special occasions. Shoes made by James Sanborn were special, and a proud purchase. For four years during this period, he also served as the postmaster at the Mud Lake post office. Too much confinement finally palled, and James Sanborn decided to get away from his shoemaker's business, so he got a job in the Abe Cartwright lumber camps, on the site of the Thomas McGregor farm south of the village of Mud Lake. From that time on he retired from shoemaking and worked in timber and at farming until his retirement from active labor at about 1921. Cedar paid for the Farm.

The late 1880's came and the end of the big timber was in sight. James decided to buy some land and clear a farm, so he purchased a forty acre parcel in Millen Township, now owned by his son Charles Sanborn and his family. James Sanborn purchased the property with a $30 cash down payment. The balance of the purchase price was paid from the profits from cedar post and ties, cut from the swamps of the area and delivered at the rail shipping port in Lincoln, Michigan. About 1911, James homesteaded another farm in West Hawes, three miles northeast of Barton City. In 1941 he lived there with his daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goddard. Mrs. Frances Viola Goddard and Charles Sanborn are the only surviving children of James and Clara Sanborn. Another daughter, Mrs. Agnes Sanborn Thornton, passed away in 1928. One sister, Mrs. Anna Sanborn Graves, born in 1861, lived in Montrose, Michigan until her death. By 1941, James Sanborn's eyesight had failed; otherwise he was in good health. He was mentally alert and had a remarkable memory when he told this story. James H. Sanborn died December 14, 1941; five days after this story ran in the newspaper.

It is understood that the Salmon family migrated from England to the United States and then to London, London District, Upper Canada (Ontario). In 1819, 98 immigrants were assigned parcels of land located in London Township by Col. Talbot (who was instrumental in the settlement of Upper Canada.) One of the recorded last names was spelt Salmond (George). George Salmond was granted land at S ½ lot 1 concession 9, London Township in 1819. A James Salmon settled in the township in 1819 as well, one of Col. Talbot's settlers, probably the father of Huldah's husband James. The Atlas of Middlesex County 1878 shows the spelling as Salmon. All these maps are held at the Map Library, University of Western Ontario, London, Ontario. The location became known as Salmonville. In 1836, James received a Col. Talbot land grant at N ½ lot 1 concession 10 across the road from George Salmond. In 1844, James was chosen as an Overseer of the East side of London Township. James & Huldah lived on lots 1 & 2 of concession 10 through the 1870's to 1890's. According to the "Portrait And Biographical Album Of Sanilac County" - 1884, and the "Sanilac County History 1834-1984," ...In 1849 James and Alanson Goodrich were the first settlers to cut a farm from the heavy forest along Cherry Creek (Sec. 4, Town 12). This 80 acres was known as the Goodrich property. Later, about 1865, they cleared 80 acres nearly two miles in from the lake (Sec. 5, Town 12) for James and his family. This farm remains in the family today. He bought and sold property and engaged in many facets of enterprise until his death in 1893. He is buried on the Hartshorn family plot with his wife Maria (Mariah) Bisbee Hartshorn, at the Forester Cemetery, Forester, Michigan.

When he was twelve, James began service on the lake steamers between Cleveland and Port Huron. In 1856, James managed a boat and harness store in Lexington, moving to the Smith, Kelly & Co. Store in Forester in 1858. In 1862, he purchased the business and added a general store. James became a shoemaker apprentice while the boats were in wintertime dock. He apprenticed to H. Foster of Port Huron before managing his own store in Lexington. In politics, he was an independent. He held offices of treasurer and highway commissioner. He was a member of the Order of Maccabees.

James Henry HARTSHORN and Maria/Mariah Otly BISBEE were married on 9 May 1854 in Burtchville Twp., St. Clair County, Michigan¹¹² by James Parlin, JP; witnesses: G.J. Parker & Levi Mitchell, both of Lexington, Michigan. Maria/Mariah Otly BISBEE was born on 6 Nov 1838 in Upper Canada (Middlesex County, Ontario, Canada) based on death certificate. She died on 1 Aug 1913 at the age of 74 in Forester, Sanilac County, Michigan. Maria/Mariah was buried in Forester Township Cemetery, Sanilac County, Michigan.¹¹³ Her name was pronounced "Meriah" and is even spelled that way in some old Foster/Bisbee reunion notes.

Mariah Otly BISBEE was the daughter of Elijah BISBEE and Sarah Louisa FOSTER and a sister to Cordelia Sophia Bisbee (1.7.3 p. 41-42). In 1835, the Bisbees moved to Lexington, Michigan to settle with some of the earliest settlers. "Elijah was one of the earliest settlers along the Black River near what is now in Crosswell Mich. He was a trapper in 1835. He camped each winter to hunt and trap and each spring he took furs to the trading post near Pt Huron by walking on the ice on Lake Huron with a fur loaded sled to the St. Clair River. It's believed he returned to Canada for several springs." [Historian Rosa Dumond, Letter to Joanna Waugh, Feb 2002, from Gwen Johnson.] Elijah Bisbee died in 1859, at the age of 57, and is buried in the Huckins Cemetery. Sarah Louisa Foster Bisbee died circa 1879 at her daughter's home in Blenheim, Ontario, Canada, and was brought back to Huckins Cemetery, Crosswell, Sanilac County, Michigan for burial next to her husband Elijah Bisbee.

Mariah appeared 1 Jun 1900 Census in Washington Twp., Sanilac County, Michigan (living next door to son, George).

Ottly Goodrich is the source of handwritten notes on the relationships between the Hartshorns, Bisbees and Fosters. She was an avid genealogist and did a great deal of personal research in the 1960s, 1970s and 1980s. She wrote several letters to Helen Iris Hartshorn in the early 1980s (family members have the original letters). She got much of her information from the clippings of local (Sanilac Co.) newspapers from the turn of the century (circa 1900), old biographies, books and private libraries. She also provided personal accounts. For example: She claimed that her grandmother Maria O. Bisbee Hartshorn named her Otly. The "O" initial in Maria's name was for Otly. Ottly Goodrich changed hers to "Ottly" (with two t's) when she was older.

The automobile left the road and struck a stump and hewn tree, turning over one and a half times and resting on the roof. Dr E W Blanchard, summoned to the scene, gave Mrs. Scholer a sedative to ease the pain of many fractures and possible internal injuries. Iris almost died at birth. After extensive efforts to deliver her naturally failed, the doctor decided to go in and break her collar bones, folded up her shoulders, and delivered her with forceps, in an effort to save her mother. Following her ordeal, the newborn Iris was set aside, while the doctor concentrated on the condition of her mother. Iris was not expected to survive, but did, and lived to the ripe old age of 96. She had 23 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren prior to her death. She survived childhood illnesses that killed her only sibling, and an experimental vaccine that killed a cousin and almost took her life. She lived through two World Wars, the Great Depression, and lost her only son in the Korean Conflict. Her husband and eldest daughter also preceded her in death. But she carried on, the Matriarch of the family.

Iris also knew great joy and accomplishment in her life, and that is what she focused on. She and her husband were very successful business persons and influential in the community. They owned and operated the Irwin Hotel, the Hartshorn's Men's Clothing store, and bought and sold real estate. They raised four wonderful children, enjoyed their grandchildren, and were loved and respected by all in the community.

Gween’s name, pronounced “Gwen” had a special story behind it. Her father served with the U.S. military in WWI and was assigned to an airfield in France. Local French families looked out for the soldiers, providing them food and some housing. A young girl, named Gween, from one of these families became a regular around the airfield and a kind of a mascot to the soldiers. One day while visiting with the soldiers, the airfield and surrounding area were shelled by the enemy. She was killed in the attack and several of the young American soldiers vowed that if they lived through the war, they would name their first daughter "Gween," in honor of the young French girl. According to Gween, at least three or four of them did, to include her father. In 1980, Gween was honored with the Sapphire Clover Award at a Sanilac County 4H Leaders banquet for her years of service. [The Cass City Chronicle, Thursday October 23, 1980] She also authored the “History of Sanilac County,” Michigan. Her obituary in the Tribune Recorder Leader reads as follows:
